

CONVENTION MAY ESTABLISH PRECEDENT

And Nominate President Roosevelt by Acclamation Without Formal Ballot

HAMILTON PREDICTS

A Sweeping Victory for the Republican Ticket in November

Washington, June 18.—(P)—A prediction that the Democrats would break a precedent of 48 years' standing by renominating President Roosevelt by acclamation took its place today beside a Republican forecast that the London ticket would win overwhelmingly in November.

Representative Cannon (D-Mo.), Democratic convention parliamentarian for the past 16 years, expressed the belief that the convention next week at Philadelphia would name Mr. Roosevelt without the formality of a ballot—the first man so honored since Grover Cleveland in 1888.

The prediction of a sweeping Republican victory came from John D. M. Hamilton, chairman and campaign manager for Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Arriving in New York for conferences on party finances, he said Democratic chairman James A. Farley "will have to do some picking to name six states that the Democrats will carry."

Democratic leaders here today were concentrating much of their effort on the drafting of the 1936 party platform. Those in charge of the work declined to talk about it, but some sources indicated that tentative planks drawn for submission to the convention's resolutions committee make a tacit bid for support by progressives.

Other political developments: Representative Halleck (R-Ind.) demanded a house investigation of his charges that the "postal service is being mobilized in behalf of the (Continued on Page Six.)"

INSANE MAN AMUCK AT LIMA HOSPITAL

HOLDS FOUR ATTENDANTS AT BAY UNTIL DISARMED

Lima, O., June 18.—(P)—Branding a loaded revolver, Ray Hall, 36, of Cincinnati, held four attendants of the Lima state hospital for criminal insane at bay early today until disarmed by another inmate, officials disclosed several hours later.

The gun missed fire twice when Hall attempted to shoot.

The diary of a woman, identified by Sheriff Ralph Marshall as Hall's wife, Mary, 46, led hospital attendants to a dormitory in which Hall slept.

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—The State Department of Agriculture prohibited today the sale of fruit juice beverages containing artificial coloring.

In a departmental order, Director Earl H. Hanchfield said the use of artificial coloring "was operating to deceive consumers as to the identity of the beverages."

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—An automobile coasted to a stop against the porch of a residence early today and police found its driver, Bruch H. Keller, 39, automobile salesman and World war veteran, dead behind the wheel.

Akron, O., June 18.—(P)—The walkout of 12 steam shovel operators which held up six PWA projects involving $350,000, ended today when H. D. Jones, business agent for the operator's union, announced the Akron contractors involved in the strike agreed to meet union wage demands on future projects.

Jones said the strike was called because Akron operators were receiving less pay than men on similar projects in Cleveland.

East Orange, N. J., June 18.—(P)—The E. McFarlan Moore murder investigation was closed by authorities today with a ballistic report which the prosecutor's office said showed the inventor was slain by bullets fired from the gun with which Jean Phillip Gebhardt committed suicide.

Chillicothe, O., June 18.—(P)—Fire destroyed the 50-year-old school building at Londonderry, 12 miles east, and for a time threatened the adjoining Liberty township hall today.

The school building, a two-room, two-story brick structure was insured for $500. School officials, unable to fix the exact value, said it was much more than the insurance.

New York, June 18.—(P)—New York state will ask a rehearing by the United States Supreme court on the state minimum wage law which was declared unconstitutional, Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., announced today.

The law was declared unconstitutional in a 5 to 4 decision by the Supreme court on June 1. The state is allowed 25 days after the decision in which to apply for a rehearing.

DEATH CALLS MAXIM GORKY

Noted Russian Succumbs at the Age of 68 Years

Moscow, June 18.—(P)—Maxim Gorky, 68, most famous of contemporary Russian writers, died today.

London, June 18.—(P)—Gorky, 68 years old, had been seriously ill of influenza and lung complications since early in June.

Although regarded as Soviet Russia's leading writer and holding office as a member of the Central Executive committee of Soviet Russia, Gorky was not a member of the Communist party.

Gorky was born March 28, 1868, and rose to fame for his revolutionary writing. During the first year of Communist power in Russia he was opposed to Communism but later he became its leading propagandist.

Because of his health, Gorky lived until four years ago at Sorrento, Italy. He left there in 1932, however, to reside permanently in Russia.

The writer's illness became serious June 5. It was announced at that time he was suffering from influenza complicated by pulmonary catarrh and a weakening heart.

He rallied last week but a relapse came Sunday.

Secretary Wallace would have done more good if he had found a way of plowing under the mosquitoes.

VIOLENT STORMS DISSIPATE HEAT WAVE MOST SEVERE IN REGION OF LAKE ERIE

RAINS LIGHT IN SOUTHERN PART OF STATE

Sweltering Heat of Wednesday Contributed to the Death of Eight Persons by Drowning

SHOWERS PREDICTED

To Give Relief from the Drought in Many Sections of Ohio

(By The Associated Press.)

Police and coast guards hunted today for a 60-year-old man and a 14-year-old boy, who were reported missing after a 48-mile-an-hour wind swept in from Lake Erie at Cleveland last night, endangering boaters and fishermen along the lakefront and ending temporarily, at least, a heat wave which ranged as high as 105 degrees in some parts of the state.

The sweltering day which contributed indirectly to the drowning of eight persons in Ohio's rivers and streams was climaxed in most parts of the state by thunder and rain storms.

The heaviest storms apparently struck along the lake shore. Trees were blown down in Toledo and Ashtabula. Forty boats manned by fishermen or persons seeking relief from the heat were caught in the storm at Cleveland and coast guards were kept busy removing stranded boaters from the breakwaters.

The man and boy missing at Cleveland had been fishing with Leslie Bennethum, 41. They were Henry Bender, about 60, and Norman Malacek, 14. Bennethum was rescued after his motor boat capsized in the high waves.

"The last I saw Henry and Norman they had strapped life preservers about them," Bennethum said at the hospital where he was taken. "Then the waves hit us."

The boat was found upside down with a string of fish trailing from one end.

All available men at the Cleveland coast guard station put out in boats when the storm broke. Occupants of many small boats were picked up by owners of larger craft.

Streets were blocked by uprooted trees in Wauson and lights were out in many homes for about an hour last night. Nearly a dozen barns were destroyed between Wauson and Delta. The temperature reached 95 degrees at 5 p. m. in Toledo, the highest of the season and dropped to 66 two hours later.

A temperature of 90 was recorded in Cleveland yesterday, the highest of the year. A 97 was recorded at Cincinnati, the highest for the day since the bureau was established in 1871. A shower brought it down to 70 last night.

Other temperatures: Youngstown, 94; Akron 90; Columbus, 97; Dayton 97; Gallipolis, 105.

Lightning struck the Third Street Baptist Church in Dayton, setting the auditorium afire. A heavy hail storm struck the outlying sections of Cincinnati.

At La Rue, near Marion, Gov. Martin L. Davey had to finish his "first campaign speech since the primaries" by candle light when the storm put out all lights in the village for a time.

Three boys drowned in the Cincinnati area yesterday. Earl Randall, 15, of Dayton, Ky., was thrown into the Ohio river when his home-made kayak upset and lost his life; Nelson Mason, 16, of Cincinnati got beyond his depth while swimming in the Ohio and disappeared; Joseph Gecks, 12, drowned when he slipped into a gravel pit while fishing.

Frank Michsch, 39, drowned in the Scioto river at Columbus while attending a picnic.

IN TORTURE INSURANCE RACKET?

Baron Fitts and Mrs. Alta Jenkins

With the arrest of six persons suspected of being implicated in a nationwide torture insurance racket, investigators at Los Angeles believe they have shattered the California link in the ring. Members of the organization are said to have subjected themselves voluntarily to mutilation and torture to collect damages from insurance companies, pawing off their injuries as being received in automobile accidents. Photo above shows Mrs. Alta Jenkins, one of the suspects, enacting a laceration with a grater for District Attorney Baron Fitts, who made the announcement of the arrests.

BIG FIGHT IS POSTPONED

Louis and Schmeling Weigh in. Rain Cause of Delay

New York, June 18.—(P)—Rain today caused postponement of Joe Louis' 15 round heavyweight bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium until tomorrow night.

Rain was falling late this morning and the weather bureau predicted showers would continue throughout the day and night.

Joe Louis, Detroit's brown bomber, outweighed Max Schmeling of Germany by six pounds today as weigh-in ceremonies were held at the Hippodrome for their 15 round bout scheduled for the Yankee stadium Friday night.

Louis weighed 198 pounds; Schmeling 192.

KILLER CONFESSES STOCKING SLAYING

TELLS POLICE "CONSCIENCE HURTS ME. I HAVE MURDERED A GIRL"

San Francisco, June 18.—(P)—Albert Walter, Jr., 28-year-old New Yorker, was charged today with the silk stocking slaying of 24-year-old Blanche Cousins, who he said resisted his advances.

Walter walked into police headquarters last night and told astonished officers:

"My conscience bothers me—I've murdered a girl."

He led the officers to an apartment in the fashionable Nob Hill district. They found the body of the former Idaho Falls, Idaho, girl in bed, a silk stocking knotted around her throat, and tied to a bedpost.

Police Inspectors George Engler and Frank Lucey and Deputy District Attorney Frank McMahon said Walter told them he "thought" he attacked the young woman after she lapsed into unconsciousness when he strangled her Tuesday night.

EDEN ADVISES SANCTIONS ON ITALY ENDED

Speech of Foreign Minister Recommending Reversal of Government's Policy

CAUSES UPROAR

In House of Commons. Few Cheers and Many Boos Greeted Speaker

London, June 18.—(P)—Opposition members of the House of commons shouted "shame! resign!" at Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today when he announced Great Britain would lead a move for the lifting of League of Nations' sanctions from Italy.

From government benches there came a little loyal cheering, but the roars of "shame!" created turmoil in the House.

David Lloyd George, World war prime minister, declared Eden was going to Geneva to smash the League of Nations and asserted:

"There is nothing but anarchy as an alternative! There will be international anarchy the moment this is known!"

Eden himself assumed much of the responsibility for the government's about-face on the question of the sanctions applied in an effort to prevent Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Eden recited the occasions upon which Great Britain had previously taken the lead in attempting to settle the Italo-Ethiopian war and said that, since the League seemed to be perplexed, the British government considered it to be its duty to take the lead again.

"No doubt it would be quite as easy for us not to do so and to follow somebody else," said Eden, "but I don't believe that is the right attitude for this country to take."

When he started to speak, members of the Labor party cried ironically: "Stand firm!"

Ambassador Dino Grandi of Italy sat in the diplomatic gallery and heard the foreign secretary's speech which was constantly interrupted by members on the floor.

Eden flushed under the barrage of heckling and once retorted angrily: "The honorable members are making cheap gibes!"

Over the storm, Eden declared: "We have to admit that the purpose for which sanctions were imposed has not been realized."

He added he considered the situation in Ethiopia one "which nothing but military action from outside the country could possibly reverse."

Special precautions were taken in the House to prevent demonstrations. Vigilant attendants paced the galleries to maintain order.

David Lloyd-George, wartime prime minister, was chosen to lead the opposition's slashing attack on the government's reversal of policy.

The lobbies of the House of Commons were the scene last night of a desperate, last-minute effort by sanctionist advocates to turn the tide against the government.

A throng of 200 delegates from the Women's National Liberal Federation besieged the chamber's demanding to see their parliamentary representatives.

The women shouted for Eden to appear before them but were told the foreign secretary was not available.

Simultaneously, a committee of the Ethiopian association decided to call for a boycott of all Italian goods if the war penalties were lifted. Refusal to subscribe to Italian loans or visit Italy was also voted.

Fights Extradition

Ellis H. Parker, Sr.

Released on $500 bail following his arrest on a charge of abducting Paul H. Wendel, former New Jersey attorney, Ellis H. Parker, Sr., chief of detectives in Burlington (New Jersey) county, is pictured in his office at Mount Holly, Parker announced his intention to fight all attempts to extradite him to Brooklyn. The elder Parker and five others are alleged to have abducted Wendel and tortured him until he signed a confession that he kidnapped the Lindbergh baby. Wendel later repudiated the confession.

MOB BALKED IN ATTEMPT TO LYNCH NEGROES

Destroys Restaurant in Which the Negroes Rioted

El Campo, Texas, June 18.—(P)—A mob of about 300 persons, balking in an attempt to lynch nine negroes, gave up a search for their quarry today to return here and burn the cafe where a white officer was slain while trying to quiet a bonus celebration.

Whereabouts of the nine negroes, five men and four women, was kept secret during the night as they were whisked from jail to jail. The mob, armed with sawed-off shotguns and including some women, stormed the jails at Wharton and Bay City only to find the intended victims gone.

As the restaurant went up in flames it was not decided immediately whether the crowd would be assembled later today to continue the hunt. Tip Simmons, a deputy sheriff, was slashed with knives and razors when he attempted to stop a disturbance at the gay celebration early yesterday.

Officers said the cafe proprietor was not connected with the slaying but the mob, enraged over being baffled by the officers' prompt action, gave vent to its fury by firing the scene of the crime.

One jump behind, the angry pursuers were permitted to search the jails at Wharton and Bay City, but authorities had sensed the rapidly rising feeling and acted in time.

The crowd gathered first at Wharton, 13 miles from El Campo, where one of the negroes was reported to have confessed and implicated three others.

Simmons was slashed to death when he attempted to quell a disturbance at a negro eating place. Simmons, a city employee, sometimes acted as a special officer.

The negroes were celebrating arrival of bonus bonds.

FIVE WOUNDED IN LABOR WAR AT KENT OHIO

Strike Closed Plant of the Electric Company in State of Siege

TEAR GAS BOMBS

Hurled into Ranks of the Strikers Brings Rifle Fire Answer

Kent, O., June 18.—(P)—With at least five men wounded in an early morning outburst of gun fire, the strike-closed plant of the Black and Decker Electric Company was in a state of siege today as union sympathizers sent rifle bullets intermittently into the factory.

Police Chief St. Clair West said strike sympathizers were firing up on the plant from three sides. He estimated between 100 and 150 men armed with high powered rifles were "sniping" from vantage points. He claimed their fire was not returned from company property.

William Crayford, local president of the International Association of Machinists, claimed the flareup occurred as two moving vans occupied by about 35 men roared through company gates under a tear gas barrage affecting a score of strikers.

The known wounded were: John Pudlosky, 40, shot in the leg; Al Gray, 26, shot-gun pellet wound in the face; J. W. Pomphret, 47, minor shot-gun pellet wound, all union members, and two workers whose names were not available, wounded on company property.

William Dick, 24, claimed to have been "scratched" by a bullet and Harry Root, 20, was injured slightly when struck in the face by a tear gas shell.

Observers said probably a score of sympathizers, armed with rifles, were firing on the factory from vantage points near a high fence surrounding the premises.

The plant's large water tank, pierced by bullets, was leaking. Authorities said this constituted a fire hazard.

Capt. Joseph Parilla of Youngstown, a National Guard observer, said one man wounded in the plant crawled from the premises and was taken to Cleveland for medical aid.

The man, later identified as John Hogan, 41, was taken to Lakeside hospital, Cleveland, where physicians said he was in serious condition from a stomach wound. He was taken directly to the operating room for emergency surgical attention.

Crayford said the truck occurred (Continued on Page Six.)

SHERIFF OVERLOOKED BRUTAL FLOGGING

EFFORT TO DISCREDIT TENANT FARMERS UNION IT IS CLAIMED.

Little Rock, Ark., June 18.—(P)—The Southern Tenant Farmers' union today accused an eastern Arkansas sheriff of "overlooking" the flogging of a woman and a man in an effort to discredit the union.

This charge was made shortly after Attorney General Cummings indicated in Washington that the federal government might investigate this latest episode in a prolonged strike of cotton field hands.

H. L. Mitchell, S. T. F. U. secretary, issued a statement accusing Sheriff Howard Curlin of Crittenden county of ignoring the flogging of the Rev. Claude Williams, Little Rock minister, and Miss Willie Sue Bladen, 29-year-old Memphis woman.

Miss Bladen and Mr. Williams reported they were beaten Monday night by straps in the hands of a band of half dozen men near Earle, Ark. They said the men abducted them while they were in Earle trying to determine if Frank Weems, negro sharecropper, had been fatally beaten in a cotton strike fight.

All Eyes Focused on Topeka as Kansas Capital Prepares to Receive Followers of Landon

Governor Landon and Mayor Barrett of Topeka

Governor's mansion

Capitol at Topeka

One of Topeka's gaily decorated streets

By J. C. JOHNSON

Topeka, Kas.—Now that Gov. Alfred M. Landon definitely is in the 1936 presidential campaign by virtue of his nomination at the Cleveland Republican national convention all eyes turn toward this capital city of the prairies.

For it is here that the big news of the Republican party's campaign will be dishied out, a new deal for the G. O. P. in an attempt to put the Roosevelt New Deal out of business.

G. O. P. Focal Point

Topeka, the county seat of Shawnee county, will be the capital of Republicanism as well as the capital of Kansas, at least until the general election of Nov. 3, and that is a new deal in the history of the Republican party. It also is the first time for one of the Sunflower state's sons to become a presidential candidate on one of the major party tickets.

Naturally Topekan are flustered and worried about how they will be able to take care of the multitude of newspaper reporters and photographers, not to mention the movie operators.

And they have cause to worry, for the Kansas capital is a town of home-owners, the third city in the state of 1,880,099 population. Topeka's population was 65,129 when the 1930 census was taken. It is situated on the Kansas (Kaw) river, 66 miles west of Kansas City, on U. S. 49 transcontinental highway. It is on the Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Rock Island railroads.

To Kansans, Topeka is a fair-sized town, but one doesn't have to stretch his imagination much to vision what is going to happen when visitors from all parts of the country swoop down upon this prairie center.

"Topeka Is Ready"

However, Mayor Herbert G. Barrett courageously has assured the country that "Topeka is ready—come on out—we've got everything but the Indians who were here when the pioneers dared go west."

"When the pioneers came out here they didn't find anything but topees to house them," he said jokingly. "But rest assured Topeka's hospitality is as big as all of New York. We'll find a way to take care of all the crowds."

The mayor pointed out that Governor Landon told his fellow partisans before he was nominated that Kansans long ago demonstrated they could "take it" (meaning hardship), because they were courageous—in fact courage built Kansas, to hear the veterans of the Republican party tell about it.

Landon Spirit

The mayor's invitation is typical of the Kansas spirit today. Anywhere you go Republicans "sell" you on Landon—or try to, at least.

It has been a hard fight for the G. O. P. but the climax in Cleveland with a "hands down" victory has so fired these Kansas Republicans that they're really "hell bent" for electing Alf Landon president in November. The nomination in Cleveland has just spurred them on.

The statehouse is being over-run with visitors to see the "that man Landon". The press gallery has increased to the extent that headquarters have been set-up in the sub-basement of the capitol in order to accommodate necessary wire facilities.

Friendly Papers

Two newspapers—The Topeka State Journal and the Topeka Capital—are both friendly to Landon. They no doubt will be called upon to lend their share of the city's hospitality to the visitors and gentlemen—ladies, too—of the press.

Naturally, so long as Landon is governor, he will stay in the executive offices. That will mean that the interviews Landon grants must take place in the capitol building, the cornerstone of which was laid Oct. 17, 1866. It was built of native stone at a cost of $3,200,588, on a site of approximately 16 acres between Eighth and Tenth

Hume, salesman for the Youngstown Pressed Steel Co., was riding with Morrow, vice president and sales manager of the firm, at the time of the accident.

McCormick's widow, Mrs. Alice Holt McCormick, received a bequest of $1,000,000, and was given also a life interest in the McCormicks' suburban estate, "Walden", and their home on Chicago's "gold coast."

To each of his two sons, Cyrus, and Gordon, the harvester manufacturer left $500,000, and provided that trust funds of $1,000,000 should be created for each.

AUTHORITIES HUNT ESCAPED CONVICTS

London, Ohio.—(P)—Authorities continued a hunt Thursday for two London prison inmates still at large after three of them fled Wednesday amid a volley of shots from guards. Those at large were William Hartley, 36, sentenced from Highland County to serve one to five years for burglary in 1932, and William Harris, 36, Montgomery county, one to seven years, larceny in. Ted Garrison, 46, sentenced to one to 20 years from Butler county for auto theft in 1933, was captured a mile from the farm shortly after the trio escaped.

GERMAN POLICE CONSOLIDATED

Berlin, June 18.—(P)—All German police, including secret police, were consolidated today into a federal unit.

Washington, June 18.—(P)—The Congressional Record is suffering from a swollen appendix.

Monday and Tuesday this journal of official proceedings in the house and senate contained 183 and 169 pages, respectively. At $50 a page, the estimated average cost, these two issues came to $17,600.

Appendix pages, containing material inserted by members as distinguished from remarks actually made on the floor, totaled 117 pages. They cost about $5,850.

More than 85 senators and representatives availed themselves of the privilege of extending their remarks. This practice is customary toward the end of a session.

WOMAN BADLY HURT IN WRECK

Auto and Truck Side-swipe on CCC

Mrs. Charles Paul, aged about 50, of West Market street, sustained a skull fracture and other injuries, her son, Gerald Paul, 12, was painfully hurt; Carl Toole, 29, driver of the car was injured about the head, and Mrs. Florence Baker, of Madison Mills, escaped with bruises when the car in which they were riding was wrecked after the car and a livestock truck driven by Fred Michael of Campbell street, had sideswiped on the CCC highway two miles northeast of this city near the Cowdry filling station.

The driver of the truck failed to stop, and later when his identity was learned and he was questioned by Sheriff Icenhower, declared that he was not aware that the truck had been involved in the accident. A mark was found on the truck where it had collided with the car.

The injured persons were brought to this city in the Klever ambulance, and after cared for by Dr. Reiff, were moved to the Paul home.

Sheriff Icenhower was continuing his investigation into the wreck Thursday.

The automobile was headed toward Madison Mills at the time of the accident, and the truck coming toward this city.

Mrs. Paul was still in a serious condition Thursday.

33 CHILDREN HAVE TONSILS REMOVED

WORK DONE UNDER DIRECTION OF HEALTH DEPT.

The Health Department has issued the following statement regarding recent operations for removal of tonsils from many children:

"The Health Department wishes to express its appreciation for the fine cooperation of all parties concerned in the removal of 33 children's tonsils in the last 10 days at Dr. A. D. Woodmansee's office.

"All these children were badly in need of attention and Dr. Woodmansee offered his services, (2 mornings each week). The Christmas Seals Committee had some money they could use to help pay expenses of these operations. Miss Robinson furnished the bedding and the cots were loaned by Co. M and individuals. Arrangements were made by the Health nurses with the parents of these 33 children to bring them in at the specified time and assist in the care after operation until such time as they could be removed to their homes. The health department transported many of these children both from and to their homes.

"Each day 8 or 9 were operated by Dr. Woodmansee assisted by Dr. Wilson and the Health nurses. All children are doing nicely and will have all summer to build up after the source of their poison is removed. A number of these children failed their grades last year largely because of the infection in their throats and much praise should be given to the physician who gives his time and skill to the relief of these needy children.

"Dr. Wilson hopes soon to arrange for another group of children to be operated by some of the other physicians in our city."

DANCERS PRESENT ANNUAL RECITAL

INTENSIVE TRAINING SHOWN BY BECKER PUPIL TAKING PART IN SHOW

With fourteen girl dancers who were the stars of the recent Stella J. Becker dance play, "The Treasure Hunt," as "guests artists," the second annual Becker recital was presented at the Washington High School auditorium Wednesday night. Proceeds were to go to the Paul H. Hughey Post No. 25, which sponsored the recital.

"A Little Bit Independent"—danced by Peggy and Phyllis Pittenger, local girls, took top honors of the show. The tap dances by these two were enjoyably presented.

The two sisters paired with Peggy Wakefield to dance "Pierette." Other numbers which showed intensive training were Billy Bogness and Virginia White in "Waltz Clog;" Marilyn Fulton, Marion Fulton, and Patsy Speakman in "When I Grow Up;" Billy Bogness, John Phillips, and James Shipley in "Yankee Doodle;" "Goody Goody," by Jean and Barbara Browning, "Pastels," by Helen Brown, Evelyn Dellenger, Jane Pittenger, Violet Wean, and Virginia White, "Peach and Blue," by Helen Brown, and "The Five Pinks," by Evelyn Dellenger, Jean McMurray, Jane Pittenger, Betty Stoffer, and Violet Wean were of a picturesque nature, prettily staged by the young dancers.

The out-of-town students' part of the program showed careful training in the rhythmic steps of their individual dances. Those taking part were Betty Cook, Dorothy Richeimer, Viola Alkire, Edna Clifton, Peggy Clifton, Jane Forrest, Joan Eberle, Elizabeth Ann Billingsly, Leonore Lortz, Frances Rhodes, Marvene Wallace, Mary Elizabeth Titus, and Cicely Rhoades.

Mrs. Rex Pittenger and Miss Ena Kummer were the pianists.

Writing Platform

Senator Wagner

These are busy days for Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York for the platform which the Democrats are constructing for their national convention at Philadelphia is being written largely by him. Observers point out that thus the platform will be sharply pro-labor and decidedly liberal.

Dick Hunt, Fred Dengler, Malcolm McDaniel, C. E. Chapman and Sheriff W. H. Icenhower, the latter having casts of footprints taken near the scene where the car was abandoned.

Witnesses for the defendant were: Hayes Allen, George Sheley, Delbert Conrad, Raymond Hines, Gene and Harold McConaughy. Taking of testimony was concluded near the noon hour and after short arguments, Judge Rankin charged the jury which retired about 2:30.

SHORT BERRY CROP IS IN PROSPECT

One of the shortest berry crops in recent years is looming as result of the frost damage to vines last winter and the dry weather of recent weeks.

Only in isolated sections, according to reports, will the raspberry and blackberry crops be anything like normal, so that prices for such berries are expected to be higher than usual.

So far about the only raspberries appearing in the local markets are from North Carolina. Dewberries are also in the local markets, but it is somewhat early for blackberries to be ripe in Ohio.

Recent rains are expected to aid blackberries where the damage by dry weather had not become to extensive.

EXCESSIVE SPEED NOT ALWAYS WANTON

Columbus, O.—(AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court listed among its decisions Thursday the opinion that "excessive speed in the operation of an automobile is not of itself sufficient to constitute an act of wantonness."

The decision was given in the appeal of Carlos A. Morrow, a vice president of the Youngstown Pressed Steel Company, from an appellate court ruling ordering retrial of a suit arising from a fatal accident involving his automobile. The high court affirmed the appellate court.

FINANCE COMMITTEE PUZZLED ON RELIEF

SEEMS UNABLE TO FIGURE OUT JUST HOW TO MEET NEEDS

Columbus, O., June 18.—(AP)—A weary House Finance Committee huddled again today over the controversial and drastic new relief bill, seeking to adjust its provisions to an anticipated addition of $2,000,000 to its original proposed $6,500,000 appropriation.

Schweller said he expected the additional $2,000,000 to come from a balance of that much in the general revenue at the end of the year. "We have reason to believe," he said, "there will be at least that much available as a result of increased tax collections and other developments."

Legislators sympathetic to the demands of welfare leaders took cognizance of the reported additional funds available by starting a movement yesterday to increase from $12 to 14 the maximum average monthly family allowance proposed. Welfare leaders have called the maximum a "starvation" level and that of "a Chinese coolie." Rep. Marzel Levan (D-Cuyahoga) introduced a companion bill to establish state relief standards "necessary to maintain life in health and decency."

His bill would require cash allotments for housing, food, clothing, medical and dental care, recreation, household goods and equipment, rent or carrying charges on homes occupied or owned by relief clients, and transportation and communication. It would permit persons on strike or refusing to accept employment below prevailing wage scales or for which they were not fitted to receive state relief benefits.

OLD AGE PENSIONS APPLICATIONS DROP

Columbus, O., June 18.—(AP)—Henry J. Berroddin, chief of the state aid for the aged division, said today new applications for old age pensions had dropped about 50 per cent from the peak period and predicted that by the end of this year the division would reach the "saturation point" with about 110,000 pensioners on the rolls.

RECOMMENDED

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—The house taxation committee recommended today passage of a bill to permit refunding of municipal bonded debts outside the 10-mill limitation. The vote was 13 to 1.

The bill is designed primarily to aid Akron, Cleveland, and other large cities.

Another measure recommended by the committee would permit county commissioners and auditors to postpone property reassessments for tax purposes to any year up to 1942. Under the present law, assessments must be made every six years with one due in 1936-37.

Michale Wasko, 15, of Akron was the eighth victim. He lost his life in an abandoned clay pit while swimming with two companions.

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—Predictions of continued general showers throughout the state gave some hope today of relieving a drought, described in one section as the worst since 1930, which has been burning up all southern Ohio crops.

H. C. Romsower, agricultural extension chief at Ohio State University, declared a good fall would rescue almost all crops but meadows in southeastern and southern Ohio. Romsower joined with state agriculture department officials in describing the plight of farmers in that area during the past few weeks as serious.

"Southern and southeastern Ohio," Romsower said, "are very dry. I received a report that corn had not come out of the ground yet on one Lawrence county farm. Another report described the general section as 'as dry as 1930'."

"There has been no rain to speak of since April in that section. Pastures and meadows are bad. Corn has been hit. Wheat is in a little better shape."

Zanesville, in the heart of the rich Muskingum valley, had its first rain since June 8 last night.

E. A. Fleming, chief of the division of markets in the agriculture department, predicted southern Ohio's early cabbage would yield scarcely ten per cent of a normal crop and potatoes would be far below normal.

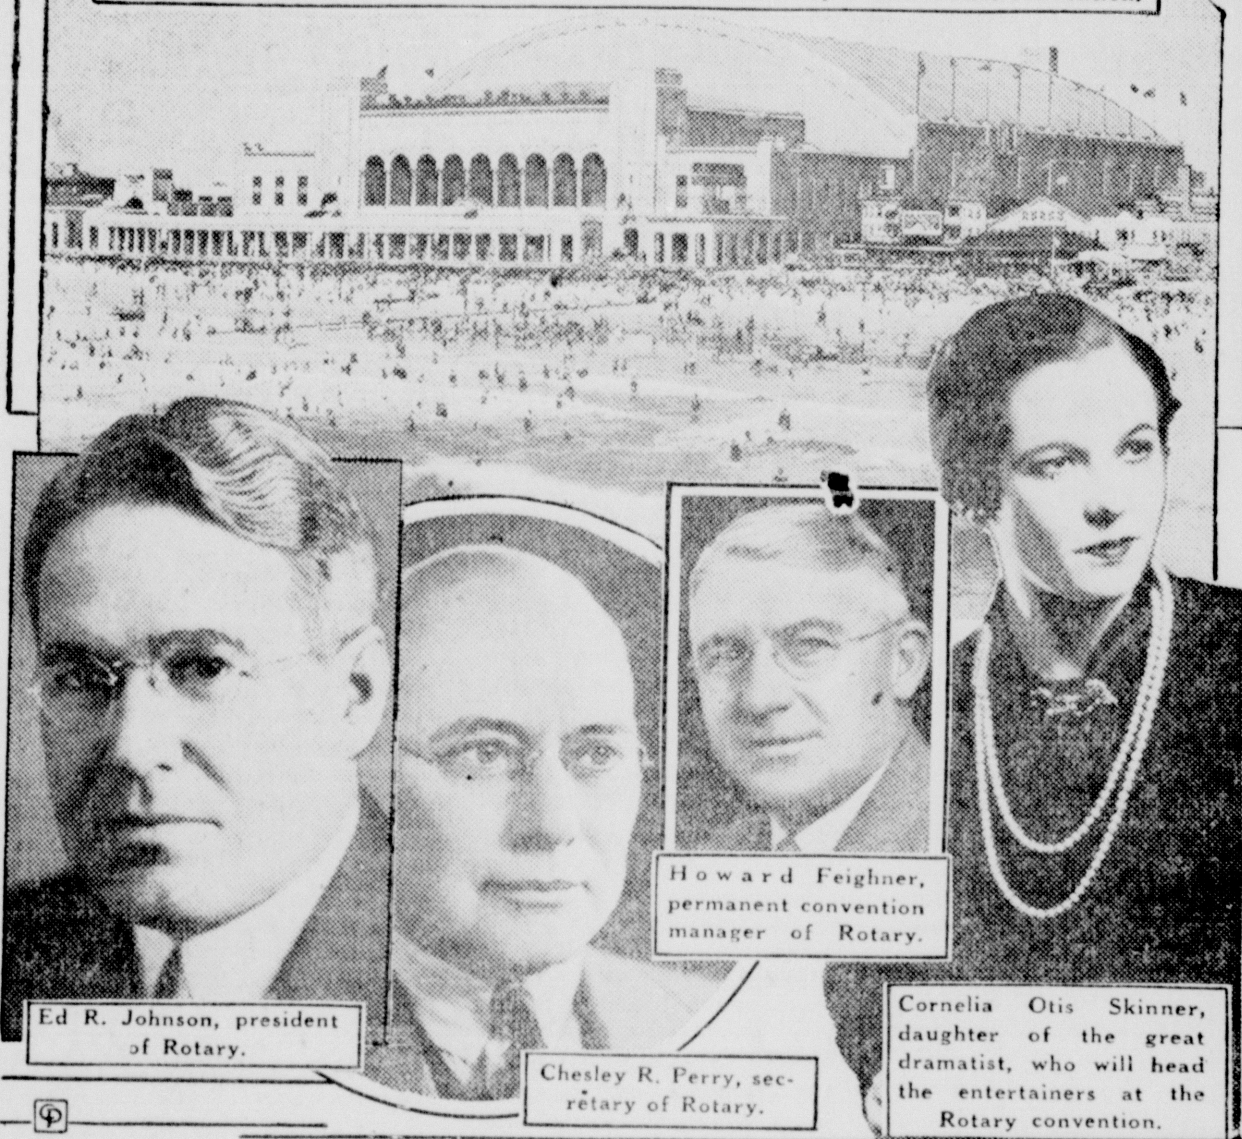

In previous years pools of gardens in the Muskingum and Ohio valleys have shipped more than $1,000,000 worth of fine early cabbage, potatoes, and tomatoes from limited areas in a 90-day season to eastern markets on special produce trains.

Marketing division officials said early cabbage prices had risen from the normal $15 to $20 a ton to $60. Proportionate rises were noted in potatoes.

Reports from the garden areas to the marketing division described the early tomato crop, as well as the crop for canning purposes, as "fair or good."

Atlantic City—The Rotary International convention, to be held in Atlantic City, June 22-26, promises to outdo any previous convention in the history of this resort. More than 15,000 delegates are expected from 79 nations for this 27th annual convention.

The international order is composed of 3,932 clubs spread over 81 nations and boasts a total membership of 169,000. Among world royalty and the crowned heads of Europe are several prominent members. The more prominent include King Edward of England, the Duke of Kent (who is patron of Rotary in England), the King of the Belgians, as was his father before him, and Crown Prince Umberto of Italy.

It is expected that more than $1,000,000 will be left in the coffers of Atlantic City businessmen by the Rotarians, while the convention itself will cost more than $7,000,000. This is estimated on the basis of individual spending by delegates from distant lands, including transportation, to the actual expenditures of Rotary International.

All bridges, tunnels and highways leading into the state are being brilliantly illuminated, and the state police are co-operating to the extent of even escorting the delegates from state lines to Atlantic City.

An effort will be made to outdo all previous Rotary gatherings. A fashion show, an ice carnival, a hockey match, a golf tournament, musicals, balls, pier shows, dinners, and many other events have been planned and arranged for.

The formal ball Wednesday night June 24, in the ballroom of the gigantic Convention hall promises to be the most lavish affair in the history of this resort. It will be given in honor of International President Ed R. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va.

Company executives, who declined to comment immediately, asked the adjutant general's office, at Columbus, for aid, claiming they were unable to obtain medical treatment for two men wounded in the skirmish. Pickets barred two Akron ambulances from entering the plant.

Observers said "at least four" men fired with rifles on the factory from outside the premises.

A state of siege prevailed as Sheriff E. L. Burr, Police Chief St. Clair West and Mayor W. I. Harvey visited the scene. The sheriff said one of the sympathizers, assembling in ever increasing numbers, threatened to overturn the automobile occupied by officers.

Secretary Wallace attacked the Republican platform, saying it was "utterly incredible" that the nation can, at one and the same time, increase exports, reduce imports and collect foreign debts.

In the "solid south" Democratic opposition developed to proposed abrogation of the two thirds nominating rule at the Philadelphia convention. Party men there argued that without such a rule, the southern states might conceivably be overwhelmed by a simple majority.

The Democratic convention will have one of the largest gatherings of women ever to attend such a convocation. The women will take party policy over the coffee cups at specially arranged "work breakfasts," with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins leading one of the discussions.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, June 18.—(P)—The stock market puffed along an ascending trail today in the wake of improving business news.

Although profit taking ruts slowed progress, occasionally, gains of fractions to a point or more predominated at the close. Transfers were around 950,000 shares.

Carrier equities held the buying play from the start, although some of the liquor, aviation, oil, tobacco and farm machinery issues had their innings.

Santa Fe got up 3 points at one time, but yielded part of this later. Among favored stocks were Northern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Schenley, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, Liggett and Myers, B. Philip Morris, Corn Products, and International Harvester.

Leaders that slipped a shade in either direction included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Brands, Consolidated Edison, North American, American Water Works and Westinghouse.

Bonds were steady, with French and Italian loans popular. Foreign currencies were quiet. Corn was 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel higher and wheat down 1/4 to 3/4.

SMUGGLER' EDEN ON POLISH BORDER

Katowice, Poland (P)—Weird tricks are used by smugglers on the Polish-German border in Upper Silesia.

Recently, the reich reduced the duty on ducks. Germans, however, didn't want ducks, but geese; so smugglers fixed ducks heads and feet on dressed geese and got them through at the lower rate.

The frontier is singularly favorable for smuggling. About 240,000 Poles and 120,000 Germans cross daily on business. Again, the line runs through farms and fields, and one can throw a package from a Polish house into a German garden.

Poles smuggle from Germany lemons, now that they cannot get them from Italy because of the sanctions. Then there are various drugs, also saccharine and cigaret lighters, which are costly in Poland because of state monopolies.

Germans smuggle mostly meat, poultry, eggs and butter.

Foe's Generosity Alone Guards Athens' Acropolis

Athens (P)—Dangerously exposed to air attack, in the event of a new European conflict, Greece is pushing anti-air defense measures as fast as possible.

One spot, however, will remain unfortified and "neutral," the ancient Acropolis, site of the Parthenon and the Temple of Athena, which has been the battleground of invasions dating back to prehistoric times.

"We do not wish to give an enemy any excuse for bombarding the Acropolis," said General George Lede, head of the anti-air defense department. "We simply trust that no one would be so barbarous as to destroy historical buildings which are so universally admired."

Delegations to political conventions that are uninstructed are not untutored.

OHIO'S DELEGATION TO PHILADELPHIA

WILL CAUCUS NEXT TUESDAY TO ARRANGE PROGRAM OF ACTION

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—Ohio's delegation to the Democratic National Convention at Philadelphia will caucus next Tuesday morning.

State Chairman Francis W. Poulson announced on his return from the convention city that the delegates would meet at their headquarters in the Vendig Hotel to make nominations for the national committee and committeewomen and to select the Buckeye membership on the various convention committees.

Charles West of Granville, undersecretary of the Interior, is slated for the chairmanship of the delegation.

Former Lieutenant Governor Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati has the backing of W. A. Julian, retiring national committeeman, for that position. Other candidates are Albert H. Horstman of Dayton, who is expected to receive the backing of the Governor Davey-Poulson organization, and Walter F. Heer of Columbus.

For national committeewoman, Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke of Cleveland will support Mrs. Mildred Jaster of Cleveland, wife of State Highway Director John J. Jaster Jr. If she does not seek re-election. Mrs. Mollie Ketterer of Woodsfield and Miss Marie Dickson of Steubenville also are prospective candidates.

Poulson conferred in Philadelphia with West and Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the national committee, on arrangements for taking care of the Ohio delegation. National Committeeman Julian, Chairman Poulson said, has been allotted two tickets for each of the delegates and alternates.

Visitors tickets for Ohio have not yet been allotted, Poulson said, but he expects them by Saturday.

The Ohio delegation will leave by train Sunday night and arrive in Philadelphia about 8 a. m. Monday.

MAY TAKE OVER 23 RIVER BRIDGES

Columbus, O., (P)—The State Bridge Commission studied Thursday a program for taking over all or part of the 23 Ohio river bridges linking the state with Kentucky and West Virginia. At a meeting Wednesday, the commission heard from Norman H. Hook, manager of the Sandusky Bay bridge, that traffic over the span had increased about 85 percent since it was taken over by the state and the toll on passenger automobiles reduced from 50 to 25 cents.

John Moses, attorney and farmer of Hazen, N. D., is a Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in North Dakota's primary, June 24. Standing six feet five inches tall, Moses is the biggest candidate physically ever to seek office in North Dakota.

Number of Black Legion Suspects in Custody in Michigan Is Now 41

Detroit, June 18.—(P)—Authorities promised protection today to informants who have assisted in rounding up two score suspected members of the Black Legion, while they investigated the beating of a woman as a possible act of reprisal by the terrorists.

The victim of the beating was Mrs. Dorothy Guthrie, 33, who told police two weeks ago that her husband, William H. Guthrie, printed at their home the racial, religious, and anti-communistic literature the Black Legion circulated.

Another Black Legion informant, James Stewart of Ecorse, requested and received a police guard after telling of a mysterious visit by three strangers to his home during the early morning hours.

The number of suspected night riders in custody in Michigan stood at 41 today with the detention of William Moore in connection with what Police Inspector John I. Navaree said "may be another Black Legion homicide."

Inspector Navaree declined to discuss the case. There were reports that the slaying under investigation was that of John L. Bielak, a member of the Hudson Motor Car Co. Local of the United Automobile Workers, who was shot to death near Monroe, Mich., March 15, 1934.

Of the men in custody, 38 have been held for trial, on charges ranging from flogging to murder.

Fifteen of them were bound to circuit court yesterday afternoon, at the conclusion of examinations charges of conspiring to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, newspaper publisher in suburban Highland Park, and William W. Voisine, village president of Ecorse.

Mrs. Guthrie said she did not see the face of the man who waylaid her in her apartment yesterday afternoon, bound and gagged her with strips of black cloth—resembling material torn from robes of the night riders—and beat and kicked her.

Police Inspector John A. Hoffman said the woman's husband would be detained "until this whole matter has been cleared up," although Guthrie protested that "if I knew who did it I would tell you."

Guthrie said a stranger accosted him on the street Monday, placed a bullet in his hand—the Black Legion warning—and admonished him: "You don't know anything about the Black Legion; don't say any more about it."

An assistant prosecutor said the Guthries' nine-year-old daughter, Shirley, told him her parents had quarreled recently. The manager of the apartment house where they lived said Mrs. Guthrie had told him her husband threatened her because she "talked too much" about his connection with the Black Legion.

The Guthries were detained briefly after the discovery of the Black Legion printing plant in the home from which they moved hastily after the terrorists were accused of killing Charles A. Poole.

REVOKE PERMIT OF NEW DEAL CLUB

Columbus, O., June 18.—(P)—The control board of Ohio liquor monopoly system revoked the beer permit of George C. Williams of Cincinnati, operator of the new deal Democratic Club, Inc., of Ohio.

Inspectors of the liquor enforcement division charged Williams served whisky in the club, which was licensed to sell only beer. Williams had denied the charge, contending that what the inspectors thought was whisky was orange tea.

Citation of Williams for allegedly violating the liquor act followed a protest from Gov. Martin L. Davey that Williams had named the club, "The Davey Night Club." Davey had said he asked revocation of Williams' license.

Williams said the use of Davey's name was "all a mistake."

FEWER FATALITIES THE CENSUS SHOWS

Washington, (P)—Federal census bureau figures showed Thursday that fewer fatalities in four of the eight most populous Ohio cities occurred during the four weeks ended June 6, 1936, than in the same period last year. The four were Akron, Canton, Cleveland and Columbus. Cincinnati had 11 deaths for each period and Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown showed increases.

REMINGTON-RAND ASK INJUNCTION

TO RESTRAIN ACTIVITIES OF TWO UNION LEADERS

Cincinnati, June 18.—(P)—Remington-Rand Inc., asked common pleas court to restrain the activities of leaders of two unions active in a strike that has kept the company's Norwood plant closed for three weeks.

The court action was filed several hours after the "deadline" passed on an ultimatum to the 1,700 workers that unless a substantial majority indicated a willingness to return the Norwood plant would be abandoned and equipment moved to Elion, N. Y.

The suit, naming the International Association of Machinists and the Metal Polishers International Union and officers of the organizations, asked that they be enjoined from intimidation and coercion of employees, from visiting employees at their homes or approaching them in groups, from picketing the downtown sales office, and that the court fix the number of pickets that shall be permitted at the Norwood plant.

The company asserted activities of the unions and their leaders had prevented it from operating and prevented a contractor from entering the plant to remove machinery.

ICKES PLANS AGAIN TO BUY SHEET STEEL

AFTER MIXUP ON IDENTICAL BIDS SUBMITTED BY COMPANIES

Washington, June 18.—(P)—Informed by the Labor Relations Board that no charges of violating the Wagner Labor disputes act had been made against the Inland Steel Company of Chicago and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company of Denver, Secretary Ickes began new negotiations for purchase of sheet steel piling for the All-American Canal.

A $40,036 contract with the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company of Pittsburgh, whose bid was identical with those of the two other companies, was cancelled by Ickes at the request of the labor board.

The Interior Secretary's action was announced Tuesday, a day after the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans decided the board had no power to compel Jones and Laughlin to re-employ workers allegedly discharged for union activity.

Officials predicted that in future cases of identical bids on either Interior Department or Public Works projects, firms charged with violating the Wagner act would be barred from contracts. Low bidders, however, would have to be given the contract regardless of any charges.

STRIKES AND DISORDERS DISTURB MANY OF THE EUROPEAN NATIONS MEXICO'S BUSINESS HALTED ALSO

Paris, Madrid and Brussels Are Chaotic and Violence

Paris, June 18 (AP)—The French government today refused a personal request by Ambassador Jesse Isidor Straus of the United States for police action against strikers at the American hospital.

Ambassador Straus asked that police evacuate striking assistants, scrubwomen, and other employees from the hospital at Neuilly-Sur-Seine, declaring an occupational strike at the institution could not be tolerated.

The strike was regarded as endangering the care of 85 patients, most of them Americans and 23 of whom are in a serious condition. The strikers demanded shorter hours.

Hospital officials said the ambassador's request was refused on the grounds that police action might "cause trouble which might be serious."

At the same time the French cabinet decreed the dissolution of four rightist leagues in an effort to break up "combat groups" and private militias.

This action of the government was directed especially against the Croix de Feu, the nationalist organization originated by world war veterans and commanded by Col. Francois de La Rocque.

An official of the Croix de Feu immediately announced the dissolution might "drive the leagues under cover where they would become a real menace."

At the present time the B. & O. Railroad is doing the heaviest business it has had for five or six years, according to General Agent Elmer Johnson, of this city.

The business consists of general freight haulage, with a liberal mixture of steel in the shipments. Coal hauling is not as great as at some other periods of the year, but is expected to show a big pickup in the near future.

Passenger business on the road also has shown a pronounced increase since the two cent fare became effective, it is announced.

Mr. Anderson was a Spanish War veteran and had spent much of his life in Fayette county.

He is survived by eight sons and daughters; Howard, Marion, Vernon and Ora of Dayton; Lois, Ona and Mildred at home, and Mrs. Ruby Cox, of Good Hope.

The body was brought to the Hook Funeral Home where it will remain until Friday evening.

Funeral services will be held at the Sugar Creek Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and burial made in the adjacent cemetery.

Three bombs damaged a brick factory and company hospital on the outskirts of Barcelona.

Butcher shops and fish market employees followed suit, turning operation of the establishments to their owners who were forced to carry on business by themselves.

Printing shops suspended activities after job pressmen's demands for more pay and shorter hours were refused.

They fired a wooden bridge, stopped buses, and poured cement in letter boxes.

Virtually all textile factories were affected by the spreading

walkout movement.

The government forbade strikers in all provinces to picket on bicycles or to assemble in large groups.

Gendarme patrols occupied highways leading to Brussels to prevent strikers from entering industrial suburbs and taking control of factories by surprise.

Strategic points in the city, including the palace, Parliament and government buildings, were heavily guarded.

Authorities feared the walkout would reach into the capital despite a tentative agreement which granted workers' demands of a minimum wage, paid vacations, guarantees of union activities and a 40-hour week.

Striking dock workers at Antwerp were unable to reach an agreement in conferences with shipping operators but officials predicted work in the harbor may begin again by Saturday.

IN MEXICO TOO

Mexico City, June 18 (AP)—Much of Mexico's business was paralyzed for 30 minutes today by a general strike, called by labor leaders to demonstrate labor's right to strike.

The walkout was signaled by the blowing of factory and train whistles. Officials of the confederation of workers of Mexico estimated that about 500,000 members dropped their tools.

HEAT WAVE FROM ALASKA TO FLORIDA

BRINGS NEW OMENS TO WARN FARMERS OF KILLING DROUGHT

Kansas City, June 18 (AP)—An oppressive blanket of early heat, extending from Alaska to Florida, brought new omens today to warn farmers of an old enemy—drought.

Along with the threat of a dry season came more reports of its companion scourge, grasshoppers, preying on midwestern crops and giving rise to calls for outside help.

A crop-killing drought created an emergency in the Dakotas and Montana, and crops suffered from dryness also in parts of Wyoming, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, and the Carolinas. Livestock was being moved from some sections because of a feed shortage.

A survey disclosed that grasshoppers were swarming over grain fields in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Montana, and spotted infestations were reported in Illinois, Wisconsin and Colorado. Drought damage in the southeastern states has been estimated at $150,000,000, with the condition now worst in north central Georgia, central Tennessee, parts of northern Alabama, and the Carolinas.

Reports of the season's highest temperatures were numerous, with the mercury hitting well above the century mark.

From Alaska, "The Land of the Frozen North," came reports of an unofficial reading of 110 degrees at Seward yesterday. The Alaskan danger was in forest fires more than in drought, but showers checked two outbreaks, on Prince of Wales Island and in the Homer district.

Only 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle, Fairbanks had a high of 82 degrees, and Dawson, Yukon Territory, had a maximum of 84.

GOOD AND BAD FOR THE DEMOCRATS

TALMADGE OF GEORGIA LINES UP AND SWEENEY OF OHIO JUMPS OUT

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Political developments bode both good and ill for the Democrats Thursday while preparations for their convention to renominate President Roosevelt went forward apace.

Letting a campaigner against the New Deal Democratic Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia pledge his support for the party ticket,

In the House, Representative Sweeney (D-Ohio) attacked the administration and predicted that the president would lose Ohio in the coming election by 100,000.

He was assailing the Black-Smith anti-lobby bill, saying the administration "is not content with gagging members of congress" but is "now reaching out to gag their constituents."

Talk of a third party movement by Father Charles Coughlin, the Detroit radio priest, found no echo among the leaders here.

The next household problem is arrangement of pictures to make room for the newly framed diploma.

Crowded Belgians Increase

Brussels (AP)—The population of Belgium, most densely populated country in the world with 707 people to the square mile, is increasing 41,500 a year. Census figures just issued total 8,299,940 as compared with 8,092,004 five years ago.

Youth Invades French Chamber

Paris (AP)—France's new chamber of deputies is 4,194 years younger than the outgoing lower house. The oldest deputy now is 75, whereas he was 80 in the old legislature. There are 21 lawmakers less than 30 years old while in 1932 there were but 11.

Paris, June 18 (AP)—The French government today refused a personal request by Ambassador Jesse Isidor Straus of the United States for police action against strikers at the American hospital.

Ambassador Straus asked that police evacuate striking assistants, scrubwomen, and other employees from the hospital at Neuilly-Sur-Seine, declaring an occupational strike at the institution could not be tolerated.

The strike was regarded as endangering the care of 85 patients, most of them Americans and 23 of whom are in a serious condition. The strikers demanded shorter hours.

Hospital officials said the ambassador's request was refused on the grounds that police action might "cause trouble which might be serious."

At the same time the French cabinet decreed the dissolution of four rightist leagues in an effort to break up "combat groups" and private militias.

This action of the government was directed especially against the Croix de Feu, the nationalist organization originated by world war veterans and commanded by Col. Francois de La Rocque.

An official of the Croix de Feu immediately announced the dissolution might "drive the leagues under cover where they would become a real menace."

At the present time the B. & O. Railroad is doing the heaviest business it has had for five or six years, according to General Agent Elmer Johnson, of this city.

The business consists of general freight haulage, with a liberal mixture of steel in the shipments.

Coal hauling is not as great as at some other periods of the year, but is expected to show a big pickup in the near future.

Passenger business on the road also has shown a pronounced increase since the two cent fare became effective, it is announced.

Mr. Anderson was a Spanish War veteran and had spent much of his life in Fayette county.

He is survived by eight sons and daughters; Howard, Marion, Vernon and Ora of Dayton; Lois, Ona and Mildred at home, and Mrs. Ruby Cox, of Good Hope.

The body was brought to the Hook Funeral Home where it will remain until Friday evening.

Funeral services will be held at the Sugar Creek Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and burial made in the adjacent cemetery.

Three bombs damaged a brick factory and company hospital on the outskirts of Barcelona.

Butcher shops and fish market employees followed suit, turning operation of the establishments to their owners who were forced to carry on business by themselves.

Printing shops suspended activities after job pressmen's demands for more pay and shorter hours were refused.

They fired a wooden bridge, stopped buses, and poured cement in letter boxes.

Virtually all textile factories were affected by the spreading

walkout movement.

The government forbade strikers in all provinces to picket on bicycles or to assemble in large groups.

Gendarme patrols occupied highways leading to Brussels to prevent strikers from entering industrial suburbs and taking control of factories by surprise.

Strategic points in the city, including the palace, Parliament and government buildings, were heavily guarded.

Authorities feared the walkout would reach into the capital despite a tentative agreement which granted workers' demands of a minimum wage, paid vacations, guarantees of union activities and a 40-hour week.

Striking dock workers at Antwerp were unable to reach an agreement in conferences with shipping operators but officials predicted work in the harbor may begin again by Saturday.

IN MEXICO TOO

Mexico City, June 18 (AP)—Much of Mexico's business was paralyzed for 30 minutes today by a general strike, called by labor leaders to demonstrate labor's right to strike.

The walkout was signaled by the blowing of factory and train whistles. Officials of the confederation of workers of Mexico estimated that about 500,000 members dropped their tools.

SENATE READY TO DEBATE COAL BILL

QUICK ACTION PREDICTIONS MAY NOT BE FULFILLED

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Amid predictions of quick action, the Guffey-Vinson coal control bill, designed to reenact many provisions of the measure stricken down by the supreme court, was ready for senate debate when death of Senator Fletcher forced a recess.

Beating back some opposition, the house Tuesday passed the measure 161 to 90 and sent it over to the other side of the capitol where the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee already has amended it with approval.

The measure conforms in general with the provisions of the invalidated act, retaining the price-fixing sections of the old law but not the labor sections.

Reenactment was urged in committee by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who said he was ready to shut down the industry if wage cutting began as result of failure to pass the new bill.

Supporters on the house floor yesterday described the bill as necessary to save "a sick and dying industry."

Representative Fish (R-NY), declaring the measure wasn't "Republican or Democratic," urged passage, declaring:

"The soft coal industry, stricken most to death, has issued a Maccabean cry to help and we can't ignore it. It's our duty to pass it regardless of party."

Representative Mapes (R-Mich.) described the bill as "price fixing legislation, pure and simple," and declared against it.

Representative Crowther (R-NY) declared enactment would mean going back to regimentation and codes."

WOUNDED CHILD STILL IS UNCONSCIOUS

Columbus, O., (AP)—Unconscious since his eye was pierced by the tine of a pitchfork Tuesday noon, Billy King, 2 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul King of near Mechanicsburg, clung to life in a hospital here Thursday. Physicians said the time traversed the child's brain, paralyzing his right side. The accident occurred when a hired man tossed the fork from a second floor of the barn in which the child was playing. Previous reports said the child's father hurled the fork.

Convention Secrets? No Chance for Many. Landon Landslide Too Swift.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Much has been made over the mystery of the Landon success.

There was no mystery. The Republican convention's decision was foregone. Writers who sought mystery at the convention could find not the slightest. It was a convention without secrets.

Landon was logical. Whom else had the Republicans? Hoover probably never gave up, but his party did. Knox alone was impossible. Vandenberg was too cagey; Steiwer, Justice Roberts, Dickinson were hopeless; and Borah is not an organizer.

Landon will make a good fight. He has youth all around him. His nickname in his part of the country has been "Fox." That appeals to many persons. He is shrewd, he is canny, he has some downright forthright ideas, not at all acceptable to the Old Guard. His danger to Roosevelt is that he probably will advocate some things which the New Deal has not yet put into effect.

His weakness will be his "unknown" record as to labor and social legislation—and, the other extreme, some fear of him by conservatives on money.

He may clarify those positions after the campaign gets under way.

ON OTHER HAND

President Roosevelt has immense popularity, not only with labor but with the farmer and the small merchant.

He has directness of speech. He is looked upon as having fought the battles of the people.

It is upon this basis that his campaign will be fought—the people vs. monopoly and concentrated wealth. (See the president's Texas and Vincennes speeches.)

PRAIRIE STATERS

The repeated harping by James A. Farley that Governor Landon is a prairie stater probably is done with a purpose. The Democrats are trying to pin the prohibition tag on Governor Landon.

Farley is a New Yorker—and New Yorkers cannot realize that the United States is made up chiefly of midwesterners, not New Yorkers. This writer is a midwesterner. He rather favors the midwesterner over the New Yorker. But the point is this, all are Americans and no division ought to be created. A man may come from Kansas or Illinois or Indiana and still have a broad knowledge.

The western farmers have accepted President Roosevelt as a man interested in the whole people. They do not think of him as a New Yorker. One ought to be upheld or attacked not because of regional accident of residence, but because of his character and honesty and ability.

And often the executive of a small corporation or political division is a far more capable man than the big men in New York. It would be foolish to say that this is true always, but it can be true.

BOOKKEEPING

The Democrats are said to be scrutinizing closely the books of Kansas and Nebraska.

Upon completion of this scrutiny it is predicted that the Democrats will show that the Democratic Nebraska budget is much better balanced than the Republican Kansas budget. Furthermore, they will present figures to prove that Kansas received three times as much federal relief as Nebraska, although Kansas crops have brought more money than Nebraska crops.

And it is reported that the Democrats have in their possession a purported statement of a Kansas official that it would be impossible to balance the national budget on the basis of the Kansas budget. The federal government would collapse.

We present this as it was relayed to us by the editor of an important paper who participated in the scrutiny.

DAVEY'S CHALLENGE IS SWEEPING ONE

Marion, O., (AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey challenged anyone "to name one state department that's bad and tell what's wrong with it" at a Democratic rally Wednesday night in La Rue. He finished a review of his administration by candle light after village lights were extinguished for a time during a severe electrical storm.

TWO FROG FARMERS
HAILED TO COURTS

TO FACE CHARGE OF USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Fremont, O., June 18.—(P)—Two frog farm operators awaited in New Orleans return to Toledo to face a federal indictment charging they used the mails to defraud in connection with promotion of a frog farm here in 1933.

Albert Broel, formerly of Detroit, and Sylvester Schutt of Fremont, operators of The American Frog Canning Co. at New Orleans, were arrested there by federal authorities. They denied the federal charge and $2,500 bond was set for each pending their return to Ohio.

Federal grand jury secretly indicted Broel and Schutt last December on the basis of literature sent in the mails which advertised a frog-raising training course as the "only" system of raising frogs in confinement.

Again and again Keyes insisted on knowing what time Laura Randall had left Mrs. Bryce's. But it was evident that Mrs. Taft didn't know.
There was no sign of the gray-coated visitor when Mrs. Bryce had left.

It was nearly 8 o'clock before Mrs.
Taft left the office. I don't think she would have gone then, except that she had some sort of an engagement, which she had to keep at 8:30. Keyes gallantly escorted her to a taxi. Certainly he had made a conquest. Mrs. Taft went out, I'm sure, thinking he was one of the grandest gentlemen she had ever met. I was equally positive that that evening wherever she went she would talk of nothing but the hours she had spent helping a fascinating detective solve a case.

Keyes and I snatched a dinner
some place—I was starving. Through the hurried meal, we said little.

When we were back in his office,
he discussed his plans. He must get hold of Manda that night—the maid
of Mrs. Bryce's. Calling the house, he found out that Mrs. Bryce had gone out for the evening with a friend. Yes, it was Manda who answered.

We whistled at the luck that had fallen our way, because it would have been devilish to have had Mrs. Bryce

CHAPTER 47
AS IN A DREAM I heard Keyes question Mrs. Taft, the woman who lived in the same apartment building as Mrs. Bryce, still more about Laura Randall. Whether she had ever been in the house before.
Whether she had ever seen her before. Mrs. Taft answered all these inquiries in the negative. Mrs. Taft, beautifully groomed, inclined to be a trifle matronly, although taking excellent care of her figure, her fingers be-diamonded, her face, expensively powdered, had wondered curiously about plain Laura Randall. That was all.

Why, if Mrs. Bryce wanted to kill Laura Randall, didn't she kill her then and there in the house? But no, she couldn't do that. It would point too directly to her. Mrs. Bryce was nothing if not clever. She had shown this in her murder of Margalo—if she had killed her. And the evidence was getting stronger and stronger that way. She was the logical one. Margalo had the jewel around her neck. Van Every had refused to let her, his mistress, wear
it. Jealousy.

Laura Randall going to her, accusing her. The only thing to do was to get Laura Randall out of the way.

Not very good. Because the motive wasn't enough to account for Margalo's death, unless Edith Bryce was insane. I recalled her green eyes—the peculiar glow in them; the bits of information Mrs. Taft had given about her antipathy to people.

Keyes was asking Mrs. Taft if on Wednesday afternoon, this visitor of Mrs. Bryce's had come in a taxi.
Mrs. Taft said she had seen no taxi in front of the house.

Had Mrs. Bryce gone out later?
Yes, Mrs. Bryce had gone out about 5 alone. In a taxi. It was such a miserable afternoon, but she had had her sabbie wrap when Mrs. Taft had seen her step into the taxi. She just happened to be looking out her front window. That was Wednesday.
She was sure. The horrid weather had reminded her. On further questioning, she recalled other things:
That Mrs. Bryce's gray-coated visitor was rather wet when she had seen her in the hall, and that she had an umbrella in her hand, black she thought, which was dripping water on the hall rug, a lovely Chinese rug.

Again and again Keyes insisted on
knowing what time Laura Randall
had left Mrs. Bryce's. But it was evident that Mrs. Taft didn't know.
There was no sign of the gray-coated
visitor when Mrs. Bryce had left.

Keyes and I snatched a dinner
some place—I was starving. Through
the hurried meal, we said little.

When we were back in his office,
he discussed his plans. He must get
hold of Manda that night—the maid
of Mrs. Bryce's. Calling the house,
he found out that Mrs. Bryce had gone out for the evening with a friend. Yes, it was Manda who answered.

We whistled at the luck that had fallen our way, because it would have been devilish to have had Mrs. Bryce

near when we questioned her servant.
While Keyes was ordering his car,
I phoned Joyce and found that she was all right. Foster was with her,
and since there was nothing to do,
they were discussing their wedding plans. She insisted that I be best man at the wedding. Foster had agreed. I promised gayly, glad she had forgotten what I told her in the afternoon.

We whizzed out to Mrs. Bryce's house, and brazenly rang the front door bell. Brushing past the amazed Manda, we took possession of the living room. It was some time before we could get her quieted—she kept repeating that we were gunmen, and had come to rob the house.
It was only when Keyes threatened her with jail that she came to her senses and sat down on the sofa.

She was a pretty girl, with a smooth, yellowish skin that hinted of a white strain in her. Twenty-five she said she was. And she had been with Mrs. Bryce for five years
—a good mistress, she had. However, she was leaving soon to be married.
Her mistress had said she was sorry to lose her. She would be sorry to go, too, because the place was easy, and Mrs. Bryce didn't entertain much. That made a difference.

She saw Mr. Van Every often?
Mrs. Bryce's visitor. Yes, he had been here for dinner tonight, and then both he and Mrs. Bryce had hurried away some place. She didn't know where. Mrs. Bryce seldom told her where she went.

Willingly, indeed, rather fearfully,
she showed us through the house, even letting us peer a moment in her own room on the basement floor.

Did Mrs. Bryce have other men
visitors?

Only Mr. Van Every. Often he gave Manda money, which came in very handy. Sometimes his servant, a Chinaman, came to the house with a message for Mrs. Bryce. Not often, though. Manda didn't like this Chinaman, whose name was Soon.

Why didn't she like him?
She didn't know. She just didn't.
Did Mrs. Bryce have any feminine
visitors?

Very few. Mrs. Bryce didn't care for friends. A peculiar woman, but a good woman.

Did Manda know whether Mrs.
Bryce had been out Monday night?

Manda thought and thought. She didn't remember. The girl was not especially intelligent, which exasperated Keyes, although he tried not to show his annoyance.

Monday night. Last Monday night? Yes.

Now and then Mrs. Bryce did go out at night—with Mr. Van Every, as she had tonight. It was possible that she had gone Monday night.

Keyes explained that he wanted to know whether Mrs. Bryce had gone out around 11 or 12 Monday night.

Manda said her mistress never went out that late. Besides Monday night she had been out herself with her sweetheart, and had come in late.

Had she gone in to see whether her mistress was asleep when she had come in Monday night? No, she hadn't. She had gone in by the front basement entrance, and had gone right to bed. She had come in at 3 o'clock in the morning. She and her sweetheart had been dancing.
Mrs. Bryce always let her go out when she wanted. She was a good mistress.

What time had Manda left the house Monday night? Ten o'clock.

Was her mistress in the house then? She hadn't noticed. But she thought she was, although she hadn't gone up to see. Mrs. Bryce had dined alone, and at dinner had told Manda she could go out if she chose. When she had finished with her work, she had dressed and gone to meet her sweetheart in Harlem.

That was the way she usually did.
Mrs. Bryce always locked up the house at night anyway. That wasn't Manda's job.

Wednesday afternoon, Keyes continued, Mrs. Bryce had had a visitor?
Manda had let her in?

After some struggle Manda finally remembered the visitor, dressed in gray. She had stayed, as nearly as she could recall, about half an hour.
Manda had admitted her, and after that Mrs. Bryce told Manda to leave, which she did—for the kitchen. She had her dinner to get.

Did she see the visitor again? No, she didn't. After the visitor had gone, Mrs. Bryce called Manda and told her she had business in town and would be back for dinner. She seemed in a hurry, so Manda had unlocked the cedar closet where Mrs.
Bryce's fur coats were kept and had brought her sabbie wrap.

What time had Mrs. Bryce returned Wednesday afternoon?

Around 6, Manda thought. She wasn't sure.

Did Mrs. Bryce seem worried?

Well, she hadn't been well and had gone to sleep with a wretched headache. Hadn't been able to eat much dinner. The next day she was feeling better.

Had Mrs. Bryce been at all nervous Tuesday?

Not that Manda had noticed. It was just Wednesday night that she seemed upset. Said her stomach was bothering her. Manda had asked if she wanted a doctor. Mrs. Bryce was ill so seldom. No, Mrs. Bryce didn't want a doctor.

Had Mrs. Bryce ever said anything about a ruby?

Mrs. Bryce never confided anything to Manda. Mrs. Bryce wasn't one who talked.

Had Manda ever heard Mr. Van Every and Mrs. Bryce discuss jewels —a ruby in particular? No, she hadn't. When Mr. Van Every came, Manda had her instructions. She was not to bother. To stay out of the way, preferably on the lower floor. She knew better than to intrude. Mrs. Bryce never rang for her when Mr. Van Every was present. If there was anything to do, she always did it herself. Mrs.
Bryce was far from helpless around the house. Often when Mr. Van Every came to dinner, she prepared with her own hands some dish he liked.

Did he come often?

Once a week or so. A very nice gentleman. Always kind to Mrs.
Bryce. They never quarreled.

Had Mrs. Bryce ever mentioned the name of Joyce Van Every?

Mr. Van Every's daughter?

Keyes let it go at that. I suppose Manda did think she was his daughter.

Mrs. Bryce never said anything about Joyce Van Every to Manda.
But now and then, she had heard,
when she was serving dinner, that name mentioned. She had assumed it was Mr. Van Every's daughter.

Could she say whether Mrs. Bryce was jealous of this daughter?

She couldn't.

Did Mrs. Bryce know Margalo Younger?

Manda didn't think so. Mrs. Bryce never said anything about it.

Finally Keyes gave up in despair.
The girl obviously knew very little about her mistress. Discouraging, I thought, as he arose to amble into Edith Bryce's bedroom. Manda followed him, more from sense of duty than anything else. She was probably wondering what he was doing to her mistress' belongings.
